Our kitchen and living palette

Considered craftsmanship

Pale moulded shaker fronts and shagreen upper doors are paired with Calacatta quartz.

Raw silk glass display doors sit within black aluminium frames, with softly lit interiors.

Birch flooring and brushed brass inlay complete the coordinated material palette.

A beautifully organised pantry

Detail, inside and out

Pale shaker cabinetry is complemented by textured shagreen wall cupboards and antique-brass knurled handles.

Illuminated display cupboards and open shelving bring warmth and practical storage to the pantry.

The quartz surface continues the calm, coordinated kitchen palette.

A coordinated cloakroom

Pale shaker vanity and illuminated mirror

Dark veneer shelving and pale shaker panelling

Large-format porcelain / sintered stone, with book-matched and pattern-matched detailing across the walls and floor.

MATURE LANDSCAPING

Every garden is planted, not seeded. Specimen shrubs, clipped evergreens, trained wisteria and scented perennials are supplied at maturity and set out to a designed scheme, so each home is handed over with structure, colour and privacy already in place — a designed outdoor room that works from the first summer, with nothing left for a new owner to establish.

EVERGREEN STRUCTURE

Clipped Taxus baccata cones and balls, Ligustrum lollipops, Viburnum tinus, Pittosporum and Euonymus — the year-round frame.

SCENT AND COLOUR

Wisteria trained to the elevations, Choisya Aztec Pearl, Skimmia Kew Green, lavender, rosemary, nepeta and hebe in generous drifts.

HARD LANDSCAPING

Charcoal permeable paving to the road and driveways, stone patios and paths, with mature screening to every boundary.

A designed outdoor room, established on day one.

Planting is indicative. Species, sizes and quantities may be substituted for equivalents subject to availability and season.

RIVIUM

A CONSIDERED SPECIFICATION

It begins at the entrance to the road, long before a front door is opened.

01 THE APPROACH

The address does the first piece of work. A single private road turns off the lane and curves through the site in charcoal permeable block paving, with a footpath to one side and gravel driveways opening off it. The eight houses are set back and staggered along the curve rather than lined up, so no two front doors face one another and every arrival feels private. You are not driving into a development; you are driving up to a house.

02 THE ELEVATIONS

Handmade facebrick is laid in a colour-matched mortar and dressed in Portland Stone — headers and cills above and below every window, extensive string courses and plinth detailing. Brick quoins turn the corners and frame the stone portico to every front door, and the detailing carries the whole way around each house rather than stopping at the front elevation, beneath a Staffordshire Blue plain tile roof.

03 THE THRESHOLD

Under the portico, through the door, and the house opens up. Entrance halls are generous and full height, with high ceilings, French panelling to the walls and sintered stone underfoot. Principal rooms run off the hall rather than through one another, and wall-to-wall bifold doors at the rear draw the garden into the house from the moment you step inside.

INSIDE THE HOUSE

Then the parts of a specification an owner touches every day — and the ones they feel every month.

04 THE KITCHEN

The kitchen is bespoke, not assembled from a catalogue: handmade cabinetry in hardwood ply with stone worktops and upstands, integrated Siemens appliances integrated throughout, and feature cabinets finished in stitched leather with marble handles. A separate fully fitted utility keeps the laundry and the noise out of the room the family actually lives in.

05 FITTED BEDROOMS

Bedrooms one and two are handed over with wall-to-wall fitted wardrobes — hardwood ply carcassing with walnut interiors, Oxford-stitched leather doors, and feature glazed and metal doors with lace set between two sheets of glass. It is joinery a buyer would otherwise commission and pay for after moving in.

06 THE LIGHTING SYSTEM

Lighting is designed as a system rather than fitted as an afterthought. LED circuits run throughout, dimmable in the principal rooms, with integrated illumination inside kitchen cabinetry and every fitted wardrobe, threshold and stair lighting where it is needed, and discreet external lighting to the porticos and driveways. The houses read at their best at dusk.

07 WARMTH AND FINISH

Air source heat pumps serve underfloor heating to both the ground and first floors, with an economic hot water cylinder in the plant room and heated towel rails to the bathrooms. Internal doors are solid four-panel fire doors, painted with their linings in Khaki Mist 6 eggshell to match the walls, skirtings and 80mm pencil round architraves, so rooms read as one calm envelope, with matt black knurled lever handles on rose fittings.

Eight individual homes. One private address. Designed for modern family life.

FERN PARK DRIVE

Materials, craftsmanship and comfort.

A closer look at the details selected for your home.

A signature exterior

Cream-toned handmade facing brick is paired with Portland Stone headers, cills, string courses and entrance detailing. Specialist mortar is colour-matched to the stone, with joints raked out by hand to bring texture, depth and shadow to the masonry.

Handmade kitchens

Designed in-house, the kitchens use handmade hardwood-ply carcasses lined in contrasting American black walnut veneer, with flush-mounted internal LED strips. The 22mm modern shaker doors are hand-lacquered in soft matt light grey, coordinated with Calacatta quartz worktops and splashbacks.

Leather, stone and glass

Feature cabinetry is upholstered in shagreen-green stingray leather with double Oxford stitching and handmade marble handles. Quartz-wrapped islands sit alongside black aluminium display cabinets, with fine linen set between two layers of glass and softly illuminated from within.

Tailored bedroom joinery

Fitted wardrobes to the principal and second bedrooms use hardwood-ply carcasses, American black walnut interiors and integrated lighting. Light-grey leather-clad doors with twin Oxford stitching carry the same considered craftsmanship into the private rooms.

A coordinated interior palette

Warm off-white and soft-grey finishes, bespoke skirting profiles and large-format porcelain create a coherent interior. Book-matched and pattern-matched tiling, Calacatta-toned vanity surfaces, demisting LED mirrors and sensor-activated nightlighting bring detail to the bathrooms.

Comfort and efficiency

Siemens appliances are specified throughout the kitchens and utilities. Air source heat pumps serve underfloor heating to the ground and first floors. Integrated solar panels contribute to the design target of EPC A, with final ratings confirmed by certification on completion.

Read alongside the detailed specification that follows. Layouts and finishes vary by home; final agreed specification and any substitutions should be confirmed with Rivium.
